THE MODERN GLADIOLUS

On account of its good keeping qualities the Gladiolus surpasses all other flowers for cutting purposes, and in order to obtain the utmost pleasure from the blooms you should cut the spikes as soon as the first flower opens on the stalk and place them in vases in the house. A vase of blooms may be kept fresh for a week or more. Not only that but the colors will be brighter and more beautiful when cut than when out in the sunny garden. The Gladiolus is particularly adapted to table decoration. Cut the spike in the morning or evening when the first bloom opens. Change the water daily, remove the withered portions and cut (on a slant) an inch or so from the end of each stem. Every bud will open one by one to the very top.

CULTURE

The culture of the Gladiolus is so simple as to render it the most satisfactory of garden flowers, thriving and blooming freely with the least care and attention and making a display which for beauty of bloom and brilliancy of coloring is unequalled by any other flower. If you can grow potatoes you can grow Gladioli. Plant in any good garden soil as soon as ground is workable up to the middle of June. If several plantings are made at different times the season of bloom will be lengthened. Do NOT plant in shade of trees or buildings, and do not allow FRESH manure to come in direct contact with bulbs. Use well-rotted manure, commercial fertilizer, wood ashes, or bone meal, well mixed with the soil.

Plant the bulbs about 5 or 6 inches deep and from 3 to 4 inches apart.

To obtain a continuation of blooms during the greatest part of the season, it is advisable to plant at intervals of ten days, from the last week in April until the middle of June.

Some varieties will bloom in seventy-five to eight days from the date of planting, but most sorts require eighty-five to ninety days.

In October, when the foliage has turned yellow, dig the bulbs, cut the stems off within an inch of the bulbs and dry them thoroughly. Then remove the old roots and store the bulbs in a cool, dry place where frost cannot reach them.

If these instructions are followed, the bulbs will give you the best results for several years.

If you do not find the variety you want in this list let me quote you.

New varieties are being tested annually and only the very best are added to the list.

While every care is exercised at digging, planting and packing that none should be mixed, no guarantee is given, other than to replace any stock that may prove not true to name. All prices and quotations are subject to stock being unsold.

All prices in this list are for bulbs prepaid to your address.
